MAKING MUSTARDS

When making mustard use stainless steel, glass or ceramic utensils and containers (aluminum gives mustard an odd flavor). For regular thick mustard use 8 parts mustard by volume to 7 parts liquid. Mustard is very hot when first mixed, and then mellows with age. Refrigeration nearly stops the mellowing process. For a stronger but not overpowering mustard store at room temperature for 6 weeks, then move to the refrigerator. Try 4 weeks for hot mustard and 8 weeks for a mild.

If making mustard for the first time use 1 cup dry mustard powder (4 oz. by weight), 3 fl. oz. vinegar, 3 fl. oz. cool water, ½ tsp. salt and 1 Tbsp. honey. Mix until smooth, and then pack in glass jars. Once doing this feel free to experiment Chinese restaurant-style mustard, mix 8 parts mustard powder with 7 parts water. Let stand 10 to 15 minutes for the heat and flavor to develop.
Mix small quantities of mustard at a time because although mustard keeps indefinitely, the flavor changes very fast.
For English style mustard vinegar is the liquid. For a spicier taste, use white wine. For the French Dijon flavor, add champagne to the powder. To tone down mustard, thin with a little milk, mayonnaise, or olive oil. Vary mustard flavor by adding sugar, pressed garlic, tarragon or other spices to the mustard powder before adding the liquid.

How should spices be stored?

The length of time spices stay fresh depends mainly on how they are stored. Heat, light and air all speed the loss of flavor and color. A tight glass jar in a covered cabinet or drawer away for any heat source is the best protection. Everyone knows the stove produces heat, but placing spices next to dishwashers, sinks or air ducts should be avoided. The best way to avoid light is to keep spices in a dark cabinet, drawer or pantry. If you have an open spice rack, make sure to locate it away from direct sunlight. The plastic bags in which spices are sold are great for SHORT TERM STORAGE and are an economical way to buy spices. For LONG TERM STORAGE, glass gives a complete protection from airflow that PLASTIC BAGS DO NOT. So as soon as possible put all herbs, seasonings, spices and especially ground spices into jars.

Can Spices be sorted in the refrigerator?

Whole, crushed or ground chili peppers (including paprika) keep best in the refrigerator, especially during the summer months. Other than vanilla beans and extracts, spices will not be damaged by the cold. The refrigerator or freezer can greatly slow down the aging process. The only problem sometimes is that the spices stored in the ridge tend to be used less. An ice-cold jar can get spices wet if left open in humid kitchen as condensation will form. To avoid these problems, keep smaller quantities out in the work area and keep any larger back up supply in the fridge or freezer.

How long do spices stay fresh?

There is no set rule on how long spices stay fresh. The government's guideline used for freshness dating is 4 years for whole spices, 2 years for ground. Some say 6 months is the longest you should stock anything. A good rule of thumb is to buy a year's supply of ground spices and herbs and 1-2 year supply for the whole.

If in doubt about what you have on the shelf the best thing to do is smell if it still smells good, use it. Old spices will never make you sick, they just become flavorless. Another tip is if there are more than one cook (s) in the kitchen always remember to tighten the lid on the spice jars after each use.
BEEF JERKY SEASONING

Ingredients: SALT, dextrose, spices, SUGAR, natural hickory smoke flavor, onion powder, garlic powder, hydrolyzed vegetable protein, hydrolyzed soy protein, caramel color, partially hydrogenated soybean oil, imitation maple flavor, and 2% silicon dioxide to prevent caking.

Welcome to Santa Cruz Chili & Spice Company

Santa Cruz Chili & Spice Products have been a staple in Hispanic kitchens for over four generations. Now people who enjoy the unique flavors of the southwest are learning how our quality products can add a new dimension to all kinds of cooking. We are happy to share with you just a few of the many ways you can enjoy the unique flavors of Santa Cruz Chili & Spice Products.

Santa Cruz Chili Paste & Santa Cruz Chili Powder

Arizona and New Mexico chilies have long been known for their distinctive flavor, and until Gene England, founder of Santa Cruz Chili and Spice Company, discovered the method of manufacturing the red mature chile peppers into a rich chili paste and rich chili powder, the number of people who knew this mild, tangy taste of mature, red chile peppers, considered a delicacy, was relatively limited. Used in all types of Mexican cooking, Santa Cruz Chili Paste and Santa Cruz Chili Powder can also add a bright flavor and color to almost any dish. Our Chili Paste is excellent all by itself on steaks, hamburgers, hot dogs or eaten straight from the jar with tortillas.

Santa Cruz Sauces

Our sauces are made from authentic recipes, full of the rich and pungent flavors of Mexico. Santa Cruz Picante Sauce is made from a special blend of tomatoes, jalapenos, green chilies and spices. It adds a wonderful and substantial zest to tacos or as a salsa for tostadas. Santa Cruz Hot Picante Sauce takes our popular Picante Sauce recipe and adds even more bite for those who “like it hot”. Santa Cruz Green Salsa was chosen Tucson, Arizona's best hot salsa. Our Green Salsa also brings you the authentic flavor of Mexico with jalapenos and green chili in a special blend of the finest ingredients. Santa Cruz Chili Barbeque Sauce is an excellent all-purpose barbeque sauce which has become a favorite with our customers. Made the same slow way as our other sauces, it is delicious on beef, pork, fish and chicken.

Santa Cruz Spices

In 50 years of creating special southwestern food products, we have developed many sources of unusual chiles, herbs and spices from around the world. Our Spice Center, in Tumacacori, is famous among gourmets looking for affordable and unique items not readily found in your local grocery store.
